REVIEW OF A MAGISTRATE JUDGE'S REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION

(a) Definition. The term “report and recommendation” in this order has the same meaning as the terms “proposed findings of fact and recommendations,” “recommended disposition,” “findings and recommendations,” “proposed findings and recommendations,” or similar language in 28 U.S.C. § 636(b), 18 U.S.C. § 3401, Fed. R. Civ. P. 72, and Fed. R. Crim. P. 59.

(b) Objection. Within fourteen days after service of a report and recommendation, any party may file and serve a written objection.

(c) Response. Within fourteen days after service of any written objection, any party opposing the objection may file and serve a written response.

(d) Disposition. The district judge may:

- (1) accept, reject, or modify the report and recommendation in whole or in part;
- (2) receive further evidence; or
- (3) recommit the matter to the magistrate judge with instructions.

MISDEMEANORS AND PETTY OFFENSES

(a) Misdemeanor. With the parties’ consent, a magistrate judge may try a person charged with, and sentence a person convicted of, a Class A misdemeanor or other misdemeanor that is not a petty offense.

(b) Petty Offense. A magistrate judge may try a person accused of, and sentence a person convicted of, a petty offense.

(c) Transferred Misdemeanor. With the defendant's consent, a misdemeanor case transferred to the district may be assigned to a magistrate judge for plea and sentence.

(d) Forfeiture of Collateral. The offenses for which collateral may be posted and forfeited in lieu of appearance, together with the amount of collateral to be posted, are specified in standing orders and published on the court's public website. In lieu of appearing, a person charged with a petty offense specified in a standing order may post collateral in the amount indicated for the offense, waive appearance before a magistrate judge, and consent to forfeiture of the collateral. For a petty offense not specified in a standing order, the person charged must appear before a magistrate judge. Nothing in this rule prohibits a law enforcement officer from arresting a person for committing a petty offense.

The Clerk must ensure the publication of this order to the Middle District's bar and maintain this order on the Middle District's public website.

DONE AND ORDERED in Jacksonville, Florida this 30th day of October, 2024.
